Chris Whatley, Executive Director of UNA-USA speaking on

“The United Nations in 2018:

Full Funding, Refugee Rights, and Climate Action!”

Chris Whatley has led UNA's national staff in Washington, D.C. and New York since 2013, and heads up the Association's efforts to increase membership, advocate on behalf of UN causes, and educate the next generation of UN supporters in the U.S.

Before joining UNA-USA, Chris served as Washington Office Director of The Council of State Governments (CSG), representing elected officials in all 50 states and the six territories on Capitol Hill and serving as an appointed advisor to the Office of the United States Trade Representative.
